Client X has started demeaning her husband who is a house executive since 2017, he took a decision to resign from his job as their daughter had been diagnosed with chronic asthma. After long and tedious arguments client X decided to approach FAMSA for intervention. The social worker (Christian) assigned to the case conducted 5 sessions with both client X and her husband and intervention had been unsuccessful as both client x and her husband feels that the social worker cannot assist them because of their religious differences.
