DOCTOR'S DEGREES

FACULTY OF EDUCATION

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY IN EDUCATION

NDEBELE CLEVER

A PROFILE

Clever Ndebele was born in 1964 in the Plumtree District of Zimbabwe. In January 1977 he crossed into Botswana and then Zambia to join the liberation struggle. Following the attainment of independence, in 1981 he went back to school and became the best "O" level student at George Silundika High School in 1984. In 1985 he enrolled for teacher training with the United College of Education and was awarded the Certificate in Education by the University of Zimbabwe in 1988.

In 1990 Clever was appointed acting school head in Tsholotsho District, a position he held until 1996 when he was promoted to the post of substantive deputy school head. 1999 saw his elevation to the post of substantive school head. While a school head he continued with his academic career on a part time basis and was awarded the Bachelor of Education Degree in Educational Administration, Planning and Policy Studies by the University of Zimbabwe in the Upper Second Division in 1997. He then enrolled with Zimbabwe Open University in 1999 and was awarded the Master Education Degree in Educational Administration, Planning and Policy Studies in the merit division in January 2002.

In 2002 he joined the Zimbabwe Open University as a part time tutor. His golden opportunity came in the year 2004 when he was awarded a scholarship by the Zimbabwean government to study for a Doctor of Philosophy Degree in Education at the University of Fort Hare.

For his doctoral research, a qualitative study on socialist curriculum development and implementation in Zimbabwe from 1980 to 2004 with special reference to the education with production model and the social studies and history curriculum was undertaken. Through the process of interviews, observations and documentary research he was able to identify structural factors and tensions (including the relationship to history) which were crucial in the curriculum development and implementation process. The two external examiners concur that the candidate has indeed broken new ground. One external examiner comments that, Mr. Ndebele "...has produced a very interesting manuscript, which is wide ranging and shows really substantive thinking around an area where there has not been much research." While the other examiner noted that the, "...candidate has pushed the frontiers of our understanding of the process involved in curriculum development and implementation...."

She obtained a high school teachers diploma at Gweru Teachers College and taught in High schools for 7 years. From 1985 to 1987 she read for a B.Ed degree with the University of Zimbabwe, majoring in Sociology of Education and Home Economics. On completion of the degree, she was appointed a lecturer at Masvingo Teachers College, an associate college of the University of Zimbabwe. She lectured in Educational Foundations and Professional Studies. While at this institution, she rose from the ranks of a lecturer to principal lecturer. During the same period, she held posts of responsibility such as coordinator of Teacher Development programme (in- service programme), lecturer in charge of Sociology of Education, Head of the Theory of Education Department and member of the College Academic Board. In addition, she was appointed an external examiner of the Theory of Education by the University of Zimbabwe for its associate Teachers Colleges.

From 1996 to 1997, she was registered with the University of Zimbabwe studying for M.Ed in Teacher Education, majoring in Sociology of Education. Her research dissertation was on "Perceptions of lecturers and student teachers on gender affirmative action in the enrolment of women student teachers in colleges". In the year 2000, she was appointed to the post of lecturer at the Zimbabwe Open University in the Faculty of Education and Humanities. She was the programme coordinator for Post Graduate Diploma in Education (PGDE).

In 2004, she was awarded the Presidential scholarship by the Zimbabwean Government to pursue Ph.D studies with the University of Fort Hare.

Her thesis is on Gender and Educational Management. The main objective of the study was to find out causes of persistent under-representation of women in educational management. The findings of the study showed that in spite of gender affirmative policies and empowerment programmes provided in Zimbabwe, gender role stereotypes appeared to be the dominant constraint which contributes towards women's under-representation in educational management. Owence Chabaya is the first woman, under the Zimbabwean Presidential scholarship to be awarded a doctorate.

Mrs Chabaya is married to Raphinos Alexander and is blessed with 2 daughters and 3 sons.

The programme covered the antimicrobial properties of the plant, the process adapted for the elucidation of some of its bioactive chemical components, its micromorphology, cultivation and other relevant information, all in the attempt to call the attention of the rural livestock owners to the danger of this plant when grazed by animals. Six peer-reviewed papers have been published from this thesis and three others are currently under review in international journals.

To his credit, Aliero has published more than 15 peer reviewed articles in international journals. Aliero is a member of many professional national bodies such as the Botanical Society of Nigeria, the Genetic society of Nigeria and Science Association of Nigeria. MAYEKISO BUYISILE

A PROFILE

Buyisile Mayekiso was born on the 25th of August 1968 at KwaZakhele in Port Elizabeth. He did his lower and primary school levels at Bongweni Lower Primary and Stephen Mazungula Higher Primary respectively. In 1989 he obtained his Senior Certificate at Vukani High School in Middledrift and the following year he was admitted to the University of Fort Hare for Bachelor of Science degree. He completed his B Sc in 1994. In 1995 he registered for his B Sc (Hons) and completed the programme at the end of year. During the same year (1995) he was employed by the University of Fort Hare as a Senior Laboratory Assistant. In 2000 he completed his M Sc degree in Botany.

Mr Mayekiso's doctoral thesis entitled: "Salvia repens B. essential oil and anatomical status of the oil glands in relation to plant defensive strategy and commercial application" sheds new light on the following:

- ◆ the significance of glandular and non-glandular trichomes in relation to plant development
- ◆ possible mechanisms of essential oil production and its role in plant defensive strategy
- ◆ possible role of essential oil of indigenous plants species in relation to cosmetic, fragrance, perfumery, pharmaceutical and pest control industries.

Some of his work has been published in an international journal and there are essential oil companies which have already requested to adopt the same methodologies for other indigenous essential oil plant species.

Mr Mayekiso is married to Nobulali Magazi from Peddie and they have three children, a daughter (Hlomla) and two sons (Nkcubeko and Zinwe).

MAKAKA GOLDEN

A PROFILE

Golden Makaka attended primary education up to Grade 6 at Biriri Primary in Chimanimani district in Zimbabwe. He could not proceed to grade 7 and soon after independence instead enrolled for form two at Rusununguko High School. He completed his A-levels within a period of one year instead of two years. He completed his first degree in Cuba in 1992. While in Cuba he received the award for best physics student in 1988, 1989 and 1990. In 1990 he was the best theoretical physics student in a Physics Olympiad for Cuban Universities. He completed his BSc Honours with the University of Zimbabwe in 1996. In 1998 he enrolled for MSc in Applied Physics with the University of Zimbabwe. For his MSc research he designed a high efficient wind powered permanent magnet (ferroba3) generator and implemented it in Rusape at Temaruru Township. From 2001 to 2004 he lectured physics at Bindura University and mathematics at Zimbabwe Open University. In 2004 he enrolled for a PhD with the University of Fort Hare under the sponsorship of the Zimbabwean government.

Golden's doctoral thesis is entitled "Energy efficient passive solar design for low-cost housing in South Africa". Two prototypes of the energy efficient passive solar house were constructed in the Blue Crane Route (BCR) municipality. These houses employ low cost advanced building materials with low thermal conductivity, high sound attenuation, low water absorption and high compressive strength. This resulted in low cost houses remaining within the comfort levels (16°C - 28°C) for 80% of the time. The BCR municipality has expressed keen interest in adopting the model for RDP housing. He also developed a model to predict the indoor conditions of the low cost house based on the outdoor temperature and relative humidity only. This study is an excellent example of how thermodynamics, material science and energy efficiency can be integrated to address real domestic and industrial energy issues.

Golden was awarded the best PhD presentation at the South Africa Institute of Physics (SAIP) conference in 2005. He already published six research papers in recognized international journals and presented his research at various conferences, including the prestigious CISBAT conferences, at EPFL in Florence, Italy. He is currently appointed as a research fellow at the Fort Hare Institute of Technology and lecturer in the Department of Physics.

He is married to Cecilia and has three children, Sanchez, Newton and Simbarashe.

BLOM LANA LORRAINE

A PROFILE

Lana-Lorraine Blom (nee Potgieter) has attended primary education at Toitskraal primary school and matriculated at Ben Viljoen High School (Groblersdal) Mpumalanga. She married Ben Blom in 1974, moved to the Eastern Cape and have two children, Jaco and Benita. Studying part-time, she completed her B.A. degree with the University of South Africa (UNISA) in 1978. In 1979 she received her Honours degree in Psychology in 1981. In 1986 she completed through UNISA a post-graduate diploma in tertiary education. In 1990 she received at Rhodes University her Master of Education in Guidance and Counselling.

She has tutored and lectured at the University of Fort Hare since (1983) in the Industrial Psychology and the Psychology department until resigning in 1998. She continued lecturing in a part time contractual post at the university until December 2005.

She was one of the first group of South African SANPAD research beneficiaries, completing various research courses in 2001. After receiving a research grant from SANPAD, she became more involved in community projects. Her research topic was 'Psychological strengths as a point of departure: a different way of looking at poverty and unemployment in Bedford Eastern Cape.' She presented her findings at the Faces of Poverty, CERES conference in Amsterdam, June 2003. She was also invited to panel discussions on Single motherhood at the American Anthropological Association's yearly conference in Chicago November 2003.

Lana's doctoral thesis is entitled 'Matriculants' concerns of the future.' Her research stresses that the experience of adolescence stems not only from the extensive physical, cognitive, social and psychological development that takes place during this transitional stage but also from pressures emanating from the society in which the adolescent is growing up. The findings of this research highlighted the importance of a healthy transition from adolescence to adulthood. Adolescents need an environment they can envisage, with well defined appropriate limits, and interaction with people who are committed to their well-being. If young people perceive their leaders as uncaring and/or dishonest and the future of South Africa as unpredictable because of all the crime and unemployment, they may never develop a positive sense of self.

She has just completed through a policy brief on job creation in small rural towns based on her SANPAD research report and is in the process to write another on the findings of her doctoral degree.

ENGLISH TRANSLATION OF NTSIKANA'S HYMN

(Elele/homna exclamation and praise words)

You are the Great God who dwells in the heavens.

You are the true shield

You are the true fortress.

You are the true forest (of refuge)

It is you who dwell in the highest

You created life, you created on high.

You are the creator who created the heavens

You created the stars and the Pleiades.

A Star flashed forth, bringing us your message.

You created the blind did you not create them for a purpose?

The trumpet has sounded, it has called us.

You are the hunter who hunts souls.

You gather together flocks rejecting each other.

You are the Great Blanket with which we are clothed.

University of Fort Hare

Together in Excellence

Your hands are wounded.

Your feet are wounded.

Your blood - why is it streaming?

Your blood was poured out for us.

Are we worthy of such a ransom?

Are we worthy to enter your homestead.

Elele homna !

Arranged by JK Bokwe, and as performed by ST Bokwe
