CURRICULA VITAE

Amos Mathanzima Mdebuka

Amos Mathanzima Mdebuka was born in Herschel on 9 April 1948. He attended primary school at Fra and matriculated at Healdtown High School in 1972.

He completed the Bachelor of Science degree in 1975 and an Honours degree in 1977 at the University of Fort Hare. In 1981 he obtained a Master's degree in Experimental Solid State Physics. His dissertation was entitled: "An investigation of the stability of interstitials produced by room temperature irradiation in KCl".

In 1976 Mr Mdebuka was appointed as a junior lecturer in the Department of Physics at Fort Hare. He was promoted to lecturer in 1978 and to senior lecturer in 1984.

The Institute of International Education (IIE) in New York awarded him a scholarship in 1982 to study for a master's degree in Theoretical Physics at the University of Wyoming in U.S.A. He completed the M.S. degree in 1983 and his dissertation, in partial fulfillment of the degree, was entitled: "The Physical Principles of the X-Ray Computerized Tomography".

Mr Mdebuka received a research grant from the Dean of Research and the Fort Hare Council Overseas Travelling grant in 1986 to do research on thermoluminescence at Junta de Energia Nuclear in Madrid, Spain.

His doctoral thesis addresses a central question in radiation damage, mechanisms and influence of impurities in stabilizing mobile interstitial defects and processes involved during defect recombination. The work in part has been found of sufficient merit to be published in international journals. One of his papers has been requested by the Manchester group (Paterson Laboratories) in England for inclusion in a review article.

Mr Mdebuka is a member of the South African Institute of Physics, the American Institute of Physics (American Physical Society), the New York Academy of Sciences and has been nominated for membership in the International Physics Group.

Etienne Le Febre Terblanche

Etienne le Febre Terblanche was born in Aberdeen on 23 January 1928 and was educated at the Aberdeen Primary School and Boys' High School Paarl.

In 1950 he obtained the BSc (Agric) degree at the University of Stellenbosch and in 1965 and 1968 respectively he was awarded an Honours (cum laude) and Doctorate (Agricultural Extension) at the University of Pretoria.

From 1958 to 1977 he was employed by the Department of Agriculture as extension officer and became the Assistant Director (Extension) of the Eastern Cape Region in Queenstown in 1971.

Returning to his farm in the Aberdeen district in 1978 he concentrated on agricultural journalism and wrote a series of 25 articles and published a book on the different small stock breeds in the Republic of South Africa. During this period he was nominated as the Farmer of the Year by the Eastern Cape branch of the South African Agricultural Writers' Association.

In 1982 Dr Terblanche was appointed as extension researcher and planner at BKB (Farmers' Brokers Co-Op Ltd.) in Port Elizabeth. During this period he did a comprehensive study on Wool Sheep Farming in the Republic of South Africa. In 1985 Dr Terblanche started on an intensive survey on the Angora Goat Industry which led to a dissertation for the degree now being awarded.

The South African Angora goat industry produces 47% of the world's mohair and "Cape Mohair" has been established as an international mark of quality. In recent years, however, problems relating to the trends in the quality of local mohair and the growing interest in mohair production of Australia and New Zealand changed the competitive situation. From a survey of 414 Angora farmers Dr Terblanche succeeded in making a significant contribution to knowledge by highlighting the shortcomings in the farming system and perceptions of farmers in the Angora industry.
